"The fantastic Laura Virella offers an excellent Carmen, powerfully launching her career." ~La Vanguardia, 2015

"Mezzo Laura Virella made a strong impression as Carmen. She presented a very sexy, defiant femme fatale, indeed."
~Opera Canada, 2019

"Virella is a spectacular Frida, absolutely eloquent in her feminist, liberal, and revolutionary sermons, and fully convincing in her representation of the physical and mental pain that were inseparable parts of Frida's existence." ~Sergio Burstein, Hoy LA, June 26, 2017

The LA Times called Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella an "instantly believable Frida, a capable singer and actor, compelling on stage" after her debut in the title role of Robert Xavier Rodríguez's masterpiece at Long Beach Opera. Opera Canada praised her Carmen as a "strong and very sexy, defiant femme fatale," in her Canadian debut in Alberta, of which Daze Magazine said, "Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella hits all the right notes—she's flirtatious, sensual, sympathetic, full of fire and delivers a stellar vocal performance."

The spring of 2019 saw her debut as Alicia in the New York premiere of Some Light Emerges, the latest collaboration of creative team Laura Kaminsky, Mark Campbell and Kimberly Reed. In 2018, she joined the Phoenicia International Festival of the Voice in the supporting role of Mercedes alongside opera rising star Ginger Costa-Jackson as the title role in Carmen. In Europe she's appeared as Frau Reich (Theater Rudolstadt); as Carmen under the baton of Diego Martín Etxebarría, in a raw stage interpretation by Susana Gómez (Festival de Santa Florentina), where she was hailed as "fabulous," "powerful" and "excellent"; and as Dorabella at the Teatro Comunale di Narni, Italy.

As a Young Artist in concert in 2012, she was an "impressive, fervent Octavian," said the Austrian press, alongside Kammersängerin Linda Watson under the baton of Gerrit Prießnitz in Graz's prestigious Stefaniensaal. She was awarded 2nd place to Patricia Racette as Best Actress in Opera by the DC Theatre Scene awards after her "silky-toned" portrayal of Moreno Torroba's Luisa Fernanda, where she "demonstrated an impressive emotional range in her acting as she effortlessly projects nuance from ebullience to melancholia in her phrasing." Other roles include Cherubino, Enfant, Prince Charmant, Serse, Bianca (The Rape of Lucretia), Hänsel, Desideria (The Saint of Bleecker Street) and her noteworthy Maddalena, "just as vulnerable to the charms of the Duke as Gilda was--and convincingly persuasive with her brother as she begged him to spare the Duke's life, even as he sings the famous 'La donna è mobile', driving the audience wild."

Her concert work includes Ravel's Chansons Madécasses, Vivaldi's Gloria, Messiah, El amor brujo, Mozart's Vespers. Her solo work affiliations include Washington National Opera, Ópera de Puerto Rico, Orquesta Sinfónica de Puerto Rico, Wolf Trap Opera, Dicapo Opera. She has collaborated in cinema, composing and performing the theme song "Época de grito" for the award-winning short film Dream of Vermilion. To her wide repertoire, Virella adds mastery of and passion for Puerto Rican art song, of which she is one of the world's principal proponents.

"The company has found in Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella and Venezuelan American baritone Bernardo Bermudez an instantly believable Frida and Diego. Both are capable singers and actors, compelling onstage."

Mark Swed, LA Times, June 18, 2017

"Virella is a spectacular Frida, absolutely eloquent in her feminist, liberal, and revolutionary sermons, and fully convincing in her representation of the physical and mental pain that were inseparable parts of Frida's existence."

Sergio Burstein, Hoy LA, June 26, 2017

"Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella is vibrant in the title role [Frida]."

Falling James, LA Weekly

"And already, the focus of attention was on Laura Virella, who plays the role of Frida with a conviction and vocal power worth hearing in person."

Sergio Burstein, Hoy LA, June 14, 2017

"The fine Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella, making her LBO debut, is almost always on stage in the title role, negotiating not only the music but moving around both on her own two legs and by wheelchair. She totally looks and inhabits the part."

Eric A. Gordon, People's World, June 22, 2017

"Laura Virella is a vibrant Frida with an attractive, plush sound."

Michael Van Duzer, ShowMag

"Venezuelan-American lyric baritone Bernardo Bermudez and Puerto Rican mezzo-soprano Laura Virella were exceptional in their leading roles."

Julie Riggott, Culture Spot LA, June 28, 2017

"Laura Virella in the title role possesses a bright, luminescent mezzo that at once conveys Kahlo's passion and her pain. [She gives] completely realized performances, singing and acting with both beauty, when called for, and intensity."

Jim Ruggirello, Gazettes, June 23, 2017

"Mezzo-soprano Laura Virella is compelling as Frida, and Bernardo Bermudez, a lyric baritone, is a fine match. They don't sing many arias together, but when they do it's hard to resist being pulled in and embraced by their voices."

Bondo Wyszpolski, Easy Reader News, June 23, 2017

"The fabulous Laura Virella [...]. Virella's Carmen is excellent, as she powerfully begins her career."

Jorge de Persia, La Vanguardia, Catalunya, July 2015

"Worldwide beloved Kammersängerin Linda Watson impressed with her precise phrasing and interpretation, as did Laura Virella, from Puerto Rico, with her fervent Octavian."

Apa Hansjörg Spies, Kleine Zeitung, 2012 (Graz)

"Mezzo-soprano Laura Virella, as Luisa [Fernanda], demonstrates an impressive emotional range in her acting as she effortlessly projects nuance from ebulliance to melancholia in her phrasing."

Rosalind Lacy for DC Theatre Scene, 2011

"As the Old Woman, mezzo Laura Virella was the greatest standout of this show...She gave us singing that was beautiful and acting that was just histrionic enough. Her comic timing was the best of the evening...It was clear Miss Virella was having tremendous fun."

Taminophile, 2011

"All, especially the rich mezzo-soprano Laura Virella, are gifted singers."

The Washington Times, 2004

"Laura Virella's Carmen couldn't have been much more sensual without inviting a police raid."

Tim Smith for The Baltimore Sun, 2002
